ACMO's Work Continues

BY CATHERINE MURDOCK, RCM

HELLO EVERYONE,

Your ACMO Board of Directors sincerely hopes that you have been able to take full advantage of the glorious Ontario summer.

Meanwhile, your Board has been very hard at work on a number of initiatives, not the least of which is Bill 106. After first reading on May 27, we opened the floor for questions from our members via the Town Hall meeting held on July 14. The Town Hall was organized by our Government Relations representative, Dean McCabe. We will continue to gather members' input and create a document for you to review. What it contains will become part of your future; let's be sure we are aware of the expectations.

On the Regional front, several Board members attended the London, ON one-day ACMO/CCI conference held on July 17, where those in attendance were very receptive to receiving new information on many topics, including Bill 106. Thank you to Debbie Wilson for her tireless efforts in the organization of this conference.

Internally, we are updating and revising our New Board Member information binder, our social media platform and our branding continues. This awesome task has become the focus of our Communications and Marketing Committee Chair and newest member to the board, Katherine Gow.

There has been a call for nominations for the annual awards for outstanding contributions to the development of our profession. We hope you have a deserving individual in mind and that you have nominated them. The awards process has been entirely revamped and updated as you will see this coming fall. Thank you to our Vice President, Laurie Adams and the Awards Committee.

On another front, Allan Rosenberg, Chair of the Member Benefits Committee has been diligently working with his committee to combine a number of benefits that will bring value added to our RCMs province wide. We look forward to hearing about them.

Since we need to constantly improve how we carry out the functions of running condominium corporations, Robert Weinberg, Treasurer and chair of the Certification and Standards Committee has presented a revised ACMO 2000 Manual to be used in future ACMO 2000 Audits. Review of this formidable document is currently underway.

Our Secretary Audrey McGuire, chair of the Associates Committee and past President Steven Christodoulou, chair of the ACMO Futures Committee and myself, chair of the Professional Development Committee are all working on projects concurrently. Finally, bravo to our dedicated committee volunteers who work tirelessly to help achieve our goals, and there is still much to do. We are pleased and thankful to BBandC for their guidance as we pursue all of these various projects on behalf of our association.

We'll talk again soon . . .

ACMO President
