

CM

Condominium MANAGER
VOLUME 36, NO.3
FALL 2015

ON THE COVER

This issue is all about ensuring adequate protection for our single-most important investment – our condominiums and town homes.

Photo: Bigstock.com/ bspguy
Design: Maracle Press

ACMO CORE PURPOSE

ACMO is committed to the recognition, promotion and support of Professional Condominium Managers across Ontario, through education, member services, public awareness and a strict adherence to the highest ethical standards.

EDITORIAL/ ADVERTISING DEADLINES

Winter 2015

Best Practices
for Managers and
Management Companies
Editorial due: October 25

Ads due: November 8
Canada Post Publication
Agreement Number
40011809

Managing My First Condo

Condominium managers across Ontario possess a wealth of experience, education and skill sets. Right from the get-go, condo managers need to be on their toes and prepared for any challenge that might come their way. We asked managers and senior executives to tell CM readers about their first property management experience.

Continue reading on page 50.

features

- 10 Looking Ahead
- 14 A Collective Effort
BY YASMEEN NURMOHAMED, RCM
- 18 How Security Can Save You Money
BY JACK SCHMIDT
AND ROBERT HASTINGS
- 22 Security Considerations for Managers & Boards
BY DENISE LASH
- 28 What Makes a Safe Community?
BY MATTHEW WILLIAMS
- 34 Condominium Management Services Act, 2015: What does this mean for you?
BY MARNIE MCBAIN, RCM
- 39 Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow: A Timeline to the Proposed Condo Act
- 42 Protecting Condominium Owners Act, 2015: The Condominium Authority
BY AUDREY LOEB, LSM LLB LLM
- 47 Cheque Fraud Prevention
BY ROBERT WEINBERG,
MBA RCM ACCI
- 50 Managing My First Condo
- 56 When Airbnb Moves into Your Condo
BY ROD ESCAYOLA

IN THIS issue

Each of us wants to feel safe and our home is the primary place where we should feel the safest.

We devote this issue of CM magazine to security. The overriding theme in our articles is that security is not just the focus for guards and security providers, unit owners and residents can also play a significant role in the safety of their condominium community.

Managers are awaiting the next steps in the reform of the Condo Act. To help you navigate the ongoing process of enacting the new Bill 106 into law, please see our Timeline that appears on page 39.

CM magazine is your authority for all things condo focused. You are encouraged to follow ACMO on social media for up-to-the-minute news.

We are all in this together!

your condo

- 32 Fire Prevention Tips
BY JOSH GARR
- 63 Smoke-free Movement Makes Inroads in Condos
BY JAMES KATZ

departments

- 7 From the Executive Director
BY AMANDA CURTIS, CAE
- 9 Report from the President
BY CATHERINE MURDOCK, RCM
- 13 Your Letters
- 13 ACMO 2000: Condominium Management Standards Council
- 67 Around Ontario
- 68 What Are You Working On?
- 73 RCM Mini-Profiles: In Their Own Words
- 78 Newsworthy

22

34

56